The legal authorization for the establishment and operation of the Juvenile Justice Commission (JJC) of San Diego County is set forth in the California Welfare and Institutions Code, Sections 225 through 231. These policies are intended to supplement the governing provisions of State Law and aid the Commission in effectively fulfilling its statutory duties and responsibilities. The Welfare and Institutions Codes states that, "It shall be the duty of the Juvenile Justice Commission to inquire into the administration of Juvenile Court Law in the county or region in which the Commission serves."

The San Diego County JJC was created in 1965 through a mandate issued by the State of California. The Commission inquires into activities surrounding the administration of juvenile justice regarding children in both the delinquency and dependency systems. This includes conducting inspections of publicly administered institutions in which youth who are incarcerated or in foster care are housed. The Commission consists of between seven and fifteen Commissioners appointed by the presiding judge of the juvenile courts to a term of not more than four years.

JAIL AND LOCKUP INSPECTIONS

Section 209 of the Welfare and Institutions Code contains several requirements for juvenile court judges and juvenile justice commissions. The Board of State and Community Corrections (BSCC) is responsible for inspecting all local detention facilities, juvenile halls and camps in California and is also responsible for monitoring jails and lockups that securely detain minors in California.

Pursuant to WIC Section 209(a), a judge of the juvenile court shall annually inspect each jail or juvenile hall in the county that held one or more minors for more than 24 hours during the preceding calendar year. Additionally, this code requires the judge to promptly notify the operator of the facility of any observed noncompliance with minimum standards for juvenile facilities adopted by the CSA (Title 15, California Code of Regulations).

WIC Section 209(b) requires the juvenile court judge or a delegated member of the juvenile justice commission to inspect each law enforcement facility that contains a jail or lockup for adults in which one or more minors was securely detained for any length of time.

As the designee to the Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Court, the Juvenile Justice Commission of San Diego County inspected 31 jail and lockup facilities where minors are temporarily detained.

El Cajon Police Department:
The facility is extremely well-organized. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

Escondido Police Department:

The inspecting commission member mentioned that this is a great facility that is clean and meets standards. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

National City Police Department:
The facility was reported to be clean and well maintained with visible signage detailing minor’s rights. Daily and monthly logs are well-organized and accessible in a single binder. The commission member who inspected this facility suggested staff create a written policy regarding intoxicated minors. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

Oceanside Police Department:
The inspecting commission member said that Oceanside PD does an “outstanding job” in order to remain compliant in all area of juvenile detention. Issues with signage postings noted in a previous inspection had been resolved. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Central Division
This is a relatively new facility with a small Juvenile Unit. Staff advised the inspector that SDPD does not condone the use of secure detention for minors at any time so no secure-detention logs or policies pertaining to secure detention were available for review. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.
San Diego – Eastern Division
Staff at this facility were helpful, organized and well-versed in the Welfare and Institutions Code. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Mid-City Division
There are no facilities at this lockup where a minor could be put into secure detention. The commission member who inspected this site recommended that minors be informed of the six-hour maximum time for detention. In addition, there needs to be some clarification about written policies on the handling of minors who are under the influence of intoxicating substances. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Northeastern Division
This is an older facility but rooms were very well-maintained and the interview area was clean and safe. All locks have been removed from the rooms in the building and there are no secure rooms at the substation. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Northern Division
The logbooks are kept electronically and very well-organized, with monthly reports sent on time. Signs were posted within view of everyone in the office. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Northwestern Division
This is a new facility with no secure rooms in the building. Signage is present but best placement is still being decided. The commission member who inspected this facility recommended that when the electronic logs are printed, secure custodies should be printed on a different colored paper. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Southeastern Division
No concerns reported. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Southern Division
This facility does not conduct secure detention of minors. Logs related to minors are maintained electronically and are not separate based on WIC300/777 and WIC 601/602 designation. The commission member who inspected this facility recommended separating the electronic logs based on the WIC codes listed above. The inspector also mentioned that signage informing minors of their rights during detention should be posted in a visible location. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego – Western Division
This facility is relatively small, with only two (side-by-side) holding cells to accommodate secure and unsecure detentions of both minors and adults. There is a solid wall between the rooms and doors which affords some reduction of sight or sound contact between adult and minor detainees. The commission member who inspected this facility recommended posting a sign with secure and non-secure requirements as well as a sign regarding intoxicated minors. In addition, it was recommended that a log containing both secure and non-secure information be created. Supplies or warm blankets and appropriate clothing articles for minors was also mentioned. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

San Diego State University
This is an extremely pro-active department that works hard with the community from the neighborhood, as well as those families that live long distances away. The commission member who inspected this facility recommended that secure custodies should be printed on a different colored paper than the rest of the log. No minors were securely detained over the six-hour time limit.

It was also recommended that signage explaining the handling of secure/non-secure detention of minors be posted. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

Sheriff – Julian Substation:
This facility is very clean and neat. There is very infrequent presence of juveniles at this facility. Signage should explain secure/non-secure detention procedures for juveniles and should be placed in a location that is visible to detained minors. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

Sheriff - Lemon Grove Station:
The inspecting commission member reported that this facility continues to maintain high standards and that log sheets are organized with protocols available in a nearby location. Yellow sheets are used for secure custodies. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

This facility has a “great” sign posted where minors are given orientation. Detention logs are well-organized. No minors were detained over the six-hour time limit.

JUVENILE INSTITUTION INSPECTIONS

In 2012, the JJC inspected three juvenile detention facilities and two juvenile camps maintained by the County of San Diego Probation Department. In addition, the Commission inspected Polinsky Children’s Center, a temporary housing facility for children who must be separated from their families for their own safety, and the San Pasqual Academy, a residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. The recommendations of the Juvenile Justice Commission for each facility are included below. Additional inspection detail can be found in the complete reports on the JJC website.

Recommendations:

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission (JJC) recommends that the County of San Diego Probation Department:

1. Reinstitute the Fire Science Academy program and find a qualified instructor to teach. Based on SANDAG research, the program has been effective and popular with both staff and wards. The environment of Camp Barrett makes it an ideal location for the program. In addition, the facility should consider training sessions in response to forest fires in the area.

2. Investigate Skype as a potential aide to increased family contact. The wards at Camp Barrett would benefit from increased family contact. Several factors contribute to limiting that contact. It may be possible for Camp Barrett to partner with organizations like the Boys & Girls Club to provide Skype-friendly sites where parents can sign up to communicate with their sons in a safe environment. If Camp Barrett is limited by old equipment, the JJC would be happy to assist the facility in locating and applying for suitable grant funding.

3. One of the 2011 recommendations was to offer groups for survivors of abuse/maltreatment/vioience counseling and victim awareness. In response to the recommendation, the Probation Department agreed to research the possibility of adding a group session at Camp Barrett. The JJC continues to believe that the recommendation has merit and encourages the establishment of the group.

4. One of the 2010 recommendations was the introduction of electronic medical records. The proposed timeline appears to be slipping and the JJC wishes to reiterate the need for the program and to stress the significant and positive impact on managing the wards’ healthcare that should result from electronic medical records.

Recommendations:

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends that the County of San Diego Probation Department:

1. Continue communication with the San Diego County Office of Education (SDCOE) and continue to help the minors/students track their school credits that they accumulate as wards of the Court. The Department has been doing a great job and the JJC feels this is an important factor for the youth, since it is so difficult to keep track of and because it is necessary for the road to success. The JJC also feels that the East Mesa Juvenile Detention Facility (EMJDF) is a great example for other facilities for tracking school credits.

Additional Comments:

The JJC Inspection Team was extremely impressed with the overall organization, professionalism, security provisions, academic framework, medical facility and state of the art structure. The attitude and demeanor of the managing staff is serious, positive and motivational.

The facility functions as a conduit and intake location for several other detention facilities. The comprehensive medical facility serves a variety of inmates and needs due to its staffing, preventive care focus, special needs, psychiatric and dental focus. The facility is somewhat unique in its 24-hour access.

Many inmates from other facilities are allowed to make regular as well as urgent doctor appointments here. Security and transportation are well heeded.

The educational structure appears progressive, organized and motivational. Small, attractive classrooms and full-time/long-term teaching staff present a very mainstream approach to learning. There are sufficient staff to insure that appropriate class credits are transferred to community high schools, as well as a solid GED program.
East Mesa provides a hands-on apprenticeship program for qualified inmates. They offer supervised experience in the areas of horticulture, hotel/restaurant work, as well as the building industry. Their work assignments program appears to be effective in providing useful job training.

Security conditions are well thought out and managed. Rules and regulations, as well as disciplinary functions, are clearly presented. OC spray is used sparingly but is not considered controversial.

East Mesa does not track all youth in their system by program and, therefore, do not have statistics for the camp programs. East Mesa does, however, track YOU (Youthful Offender Unit) youth. In the period 7/1/10 to 11/30/12, 128 youth have completed the San Diego County Probation YOU program. The Department examined these youth after they completed the program and have terminated from probation to determine if they continue to commit crime. Probation’s definition of recidivism is a conviction for a new crime (felony or misdemeanor). Crimes committed in the juvenile and the adult systems are counted. Eighty percent (80%) (74 of 93) of the youth who have been terminated for six months have not been convicted of a new crime; 71% (49 of 69) of youth who have been terminated for 12 months have not been convicted of a new crime; and 63% of the youth who have been terminated for 18 months have not been convicted of a new crime.

There were 14 High School Diploma recipients and 28 GED recipients in the 2011-12 school year. There have been 31 youth with “senior” status and the Graduates were from within the YOU program, while the GED recipients are from YOU as well as the other units.

Recommendations:
The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends that the San Diego County Office of Education:

1. The Commission would like to see a documented effort to call each minor’s previous school requesting their transcript. The school on site at GRF, Sierra Vista, does the best it can with limited resources, but many issues remain unaddressed. Some students enter Sierra Vista without a transcript, but transcripts are received by the second week in order to continue education.

Additional Comments:

GRF works on a rewards system to encourage good behavior. Rewards range from “kudos,” which includes extra food and extra personal, to time off from the commitment.

In 2011, approximately 30% of the girls were on psychotropic medications. The Inspection Team believes that a better understanding of the diagnostic process could facilitate better results. GRF staff should be commended for their efforts to address a recommendation from the previous inspection report to develop a program to address the number of girls who are exposed to sexual... trafficking, prostitution, and sexual abuse. This program is now in place and has provided counseling and intervention strategies for any girls exposed to these issues.

It was also evident that staff take pride in the excellent condition of the facility.

Recommendations:

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends that the County of San Diego Probation Department:

1. If at all possible, move from the current site to a site closer to San Diego.

2. If at all possible, the windows in the cafeteria should be repaired or replaced. There is quite a lot of etching on the windows where the youth have their meals and where visits take place.

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends to the County Office of Education:

1. That the educational resources and staffing at JRF be maintained throughout the year to ensure that incarcerated youth are able to successfully transition back to their neighborhood schools.

Additional Comments

The JRF facility is too far away from San Diego to get good support services for the youth. It is at least an hour drive from most parts of San Diego. As a result, parents have a long commute, either by car or public transit, and staff from Probation and San Diego County schools may have a long commute. However, the JJC Inspection Team is pleased to note that even given the location of the JRF facility, Probation has done an excellent job of securing talented and experienced staff who are extremely committed to the youth in the facility. Likewise, we were impressed with the commitment and capabilities of the on-site Phoenix House staff. Unfortunately, JRF has had trouble recruiting consistent teaching staff in place over the past year following the retirement of two of their long-term teaching staff.

1. Additional clarification of terms such as “concern, grievances, and complaints” should be discussed and agreed upon such that the intended JJC inspection information can be more accurate and consistent.

Additional Comments:
The Kearny Mesa Juvenile Detention Facility (KMJDF) appears to be well run and competently staffed. Significant staffing changes have been made this year, and command and control structures seem to be stable, even as many new managers orient to their new duties.

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission (JJC) recommends that the County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency, Child Welfare Services:
1. Continue with a strong Government presence and oversight on all private contracts. While the JJC commends the PCC for holding weekly meetings with contractors, it recommends that PCC have more frequent, direct contact (in person or by phone) with the COTR than once a month to better insure that the Statement of Work and other Contract obligations are being met. This would better protect the County of San Diego given that many services are contracted out.
2. PCC continues to be faced with the challenge of preventing AWOLs while working with multiple collaborative systems to reduce AWOLs and minimize the risk to youth when they are not on PCC grounds. This is a complex and difficult task because youth may leave on their own accord, but they are also very vulnerable to both victimization by others and their own engagement in risky behaviors. The JJC hopes that reducing AWOLs will always remain a top priority and collaborative systems will continue to be responsive to PCC and the youth under their care.

3. Resolutions related to all Grievance Slips should be documented, even if the youth complainant has already left the facility, for both transparency and best practices.

4. Duplicate donations might be shared throughout the Health and Human Services Agency.

Additional Comments:
The JJC encourages PCC to continue to be proactive in building a strong relationship with law enforcement for placement of youth to family and neighbor connections prior to being admitted to PCC. While we recognize the need to be able to accommodate significant and unpredictable swings in occupancy demands as well as regulations safeguarding youth under PCC Care, careful ongoing consideration about alternative ways to use the other approximate 150 plus beds for other compatible youth populations would be useful given an average population of 69 this year, and continued lowering occupancy each year.

Recommendations:
The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends that the San Diego County Office of Education:

1. Provide California Standards Curriculum, including the grade 9-12 college prep requirements. These are commonly referred to as the a-g requirements. Minors need to have access to college prep curriculum to allow access to a four-year college.

2. Increase the number of students referred for potential special education placement. The Commission feels this population is being underserved, as only two such referrals have been made in the past year.

3. Increase the number of special education teachers from one to two teachers so that students requiring more than 50 percent of their day in Specialized Academic Instruction may be allowed to be served at SPA.
The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission recommends that the County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency, Child Welfare Services:

1. Review admission criteria to balance reunification goals with needs of individual clients. SPA is an excellent facility to meet the needs of dependent children and adolescents in San Diego County and yet had 70 openings on the day of the inspection.

2. Because the majority of the families have addiction issues, staff training should include precursors of addiction in under-age minors so that minor residents are trained and knowledgeable about the dangers of addiction.

Follow-up on 2011 Recommendations for NAI:

1. Tracking of Critical Incidents: SPA follows submission of all Incident Reports as required by CWS and State of California Community Care Licensing.

2. Dating of Residents: SPA monitors appropriate relationships between residents. Couples therapy is available as is information on birth control and STDs.
